Wednesday a.m.

Dear John Henry,

I should be up at the library reading this very minute, but as my
"tummy" is on the bum I'm staying right here in my room resting. I guess I must have it too much, for I've been as hungry as a pig every meal time. Also - I fear I'm getting fatter.

John and I got your cards. She says she's going to write you a letter, too, soon.

Mother tells me you're getting along splendidly in Haverling. Doesn't it seem good to get down to work again?

If you have time I should admire to get a letter from you now and then - keeping me posted on the news and gossip among the Bath young people. I don't ever expect to hear from Bob now that basket ball is about to begin.

Please tell Mother that I wore my beautiful $1.25 madras waist to have my picture taken in, and that Helen wore a plain white crepe de chine (which was more elegant but who's going to know materials from the picture? I'll enclose the worst of the four proofs sent me - I certainly shan't have it put in the Segunda. One of the others I think I'll have finished up for keeps, and, unless the family wishes to plunk out more money, I don't think I'll have a cap-and-gown or a dressy-dress picture taken. Personally, I like

than anything else. However, if Mother, Dad, & The rest want me to have others, why, ask them to let me know right speedily, and to send me the cash for them.
Please give this proof to Mother & if she likes it especially (I'm not worried lest she will - but Mrs. Chadderdon liked it best of all four), she can return it to me.

and I'll take it in to Bachrach's. It may comfort the family to know that the other proofs aren't quite so frosty-looking as this, although this one may be truer to life on that very account.

Must close and study.
Love to all,

Janet.

P.S. - Don't forget to give The proof to Mother.
J.E.D.
